

A Gift That Keeps Growing

Dinh Thi My Hang, a former L.O.V.E. Sponsorship recipient, first received sponsorship when she was in primary school. Growing up with her mother and younger brother, Hang saw how hard her mother worked as a manual laborer to raise the two children on her own. From an early age, Hang understood that she needed to study hard so that one day she could support her mother and set a good example for her younger brother. For Hang, the L.O.V.E. Sponsorship was more than financial support. It was a reminder that people cared about her education and believed in her future. Alongside the encouragement of her mother, her sponsor Jolyn, Hang continued her studies and gradually overcame the challenges along the way.

Hang was admitted to a Japanese Language program at university and graduated with excellent academic results. Her achievements led the university to offer her the opportunity to continue her studies at the graduate level and join the university as a lecturer.

Today, Hang is working as a lecturer, sharing knowledge and encouraging students in their own learning journeys.

Hang hopes to encourage current L.O.V.E. students to keep going when life becomes difficult. Her message is simple: Keep learning, stay grateful, and do not give up on your dreams.

L.O.V.E. is grateful to have walked alongside Hang and is happy to see her growing into someone who can now encourage and support others.
